Item VI The nature of products or services offered.

In responding to this item, please describe the following so that a potential investor can clearly understand the products and services of the issuer:

A. principal products or services, and their markets;

Beverage Creations, Inc. has developed an Energized Hydration System, a new beverage product that we believe will revolutionize the beverage industry. Our product, bio2TONIC™, is poised to launch into the $14 Billion dollar domestic bottled water market and the $43 Billion dollar international bottled water market. For decades, the beverage industry has chosen to promote its products utilizing "secret formulas" and mere "brand recognition" but has never been able to leverage an Intellectual Property (IP) strategy to its' products. Our goal is to change this paradigm by developing a totally new beverage sub-category and control this "gap" by leveraging our IP rights. The company will extend the brand through licensing, contract bottling agreements, and strategic distribution partners.

bio2TONIC will be the only known beverage system to supply multiple doses of vitamin-enhanced water (or any other beverage) and breathable, oxygen-enriched air. The bio2TONIC product form factor rivals any conventional water bottle on the market, except, as an added bonus, it also offers the consumer a portable oxygen system.

This proprietary product contains two containers - the top container is made entirely out of recyclable PET plastic, and the bottom container is made out of a custom-made metal/tin aerosol can. In this configuration, the bio2TONIC bottle currently stands 9 1/2 inches (243mm) tall and is about 3 inches (73mm) in diameter -- about the same as a one-half liter water bottle on the market today. The convenient size of the bio2TONIC bottle will allow for easy use for consumers and adhere to the current industry standards for retail placement. The bottle container holds 16.9 oz. (500mL) of any liquid beverage and the oxygen compartment contains 2.9 liters (compressed) of 90% Oxygen-enriched air. This allows enough oxygen for 25 - 2 second inhalations. When oxygen is needed, a person merely places their nose into the oxygen delivery system - with a quick press of the actuator - a person can instantly breathe fresh, clean oxygen. Because of our innovative design, both units affix to one another for the ultimate in user convenience. When the oxygen or water compartments are depleted - either unit may be detached - allowing the user to recycle the spent container or giving them the option of purchasing a separate bio2TONIC water or oxygen container later.

B. distribution methods of the products or services;

The bio2TONIC product will be manufactured by multiple manufacturing partners. Using our chosen supplier network will allow us to efficiently control up-front capital expenditures and allow us to be more flexible in our production capacity.

The sale and distribution of the product will be accomplished through several different methods.

Method One: Beverage Creations has developed an interactive web site, www.bio2tonic.com, allowing consumers to purchase the product direct from our warehouse.

Method Two: Beverage Creations is currently targeting distribution partners about securing a dedicated distribution network for retail accounts.

Method Three: Beverage Creations has a promotional strategy for National target venues. This will allow a factory direct model.

C. status of any publicly announced new product or service;

National public relations and marketing campaign to coincide with national product launch in Spring 2008

D. competitive business conditions, the issuer's competitive position in the industry, and methods of competition;

The beverage industry is an intensely competitive market; however, start-up companies have been very successful in building marketshare and selling their concepts to the major industry players. This is because, in recent years, there has been a noticeable shift in the thinking of a large majority of consumers on how one should live their life. Scientific research has bombarded people with a plethora of facts on why it is so important to monitor what is put into their body. As a result, there is a major trend showing consumers spending more and more money on products that are good for their bodies and promote a healthy lifestyle.

Beverage Creations is positioned to capitalize on the many favorable trends in the health side of the beverage market. Unfortunately, much of the scientific research done on the environment contains depressing statistics about the quality of the water and air, causing people to really pay attention to the purity of what they are drinking and breathing.

Consumers are generally concerned with what they put into their bodies and are willing to pay a premium for healthy products with realizable benefits. Another significant trend favoring bio2TONIC, is the increasing awareness that people have about the importance of clean, oxygen intake. This is evidenced by the opening of oxygen bars in cities all over the world, especially in cities with high levels of pollution, resulting in a widespread desire for a breath of fresh air. In these "bars", customers typically pay $1.00 per minute while connected to an oxygen breathing tube. The problem is that these "bars" are not portable so they are not convenient for anybody with an active lifestyle. It is our belief that the oxygen phenomenon is beginning to gain momentum and many believe bottled oxygen is at a similar point that bottled water was twenty years ago - on the verge of breaking into the mainstream market. As the earth's pollution levels continue to increase and people become more aware of the importance of oxygen and what it does for the body, companies positioned in the oxygen business will reap the benefits of inevitable increased demand.

Carbonated Beverage Market

U.S. carbonated soft drink volume declined in 2005 – and continued in 2007. While carbonated soft drinks remain the largest beverage category in the country and the leading brands rank as the most popular refreshment beverages, consumers are increasingly seeking other types of beverages in their refreshment routines. Generally, these products, such as bottled water, are perceived to be healthier than carbonated soft drinks.

Press reports continue to associate carbonated soft drinks with the expanding waistlines of Americans, especially children. Municipalities around the country have barred the beverages from schools and other community locations. In this environment, bottled water – with no calories, sugar or artificial ingredients – has been able to thrive.

Bottled Water Segment

The bottled water industry has grown exponentially over the past fifteen years, literally creating its own "water culture". The U.S. bottled water market grossed nearly $14 billion in retail sales in 2006. Beverage Marketing Corporation states that bottled water is now the most consumed beverage based on volume in the U.S., surpassing beer. Americans now drink bottled water in greater quantity than coffee, beer, and milk. Bottled water accounted for 21% of all liquid in-take in 2006.

New Age Beverages

People have become more knowledgeable about what it takes to be healthy. Health and wellness continue to shape consumer choice in the

New Age non-carbonated beverage category, which was the fastest growing beverage product category in 2006. This category includes the following:

- Energy Drinks/Infused Water
- Fruit Juices and Drinks
- Bottled/Canned Teas
- Sports Drinks

Consumers today are spending more and more money on products that promote a healthy lifestyle. People's attitudes about healthy living have changed drastically over the past twenty years. Consumers are more knowledgeable about the benefits of living healthier, thus the many products that promote healthy living have seen record sales in recent years. Additionally, with the advancements in scientific research, the general population is more aware of the importance of living a healthy lifestyle and thus behaviors have changed.

Another favorable trend for bio2TONIC product is the increased participation and competitiveness in sports around the world. The effects of purified water and clean oxygen are extremely beneficial to athletes. When a participant is lacking the proper amount of water and oxygen, their performance suffers. In today's competitive sporting landscape, athletes are looking for anything that will boost their performance. bio2TONIC offers athletes what no other product does, clean water and a clean source of oxygen in one convenient bottle.

Zengcheng City, Guangzhou, China

- F. dependence on one or a few major customers;
Beverage Creations does not have a dependence on any major customer.
- G. patents, trademarks, licenses, franchises, concessions, royalty agreements or labor contracts, including their duration; and

There are currently three patents for bio2TONIC registered with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO). International patents have been filed under the Patent Co-op Treaty (PCT).

The trademark for the bio2TONIC name is currently been registered with the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office. Over the course of the next year, the trademark will be filed in additional countries, as warranted.

- H. the need for any government approval of principal products or services and the status of any requested government approvals.

Item XVI Similar financial information for such part of the two preceding fiscal years as the issuer or its predecessor has been in existence.

Please provide the financial statements described in Item XV above for the issuer's two preceding fiscal years.

Item XVII Management's Discussion and Analysis or Plan of Operation.

Instructions to Item XVII

Issuers that have not had revenues from operations in each of the last two fiscal years, or the last fiscal year and any interim period in the current fiscal year for which financial statements are furnished in the disclosure document, shall provide the information in paragraphs A and C of this item. All other issuers shall provide the information in paragraphs B and C of this item.

The discussion and analysis shall focus specifically on material events and uncertainties known to management that would cause reported financial information not to be necessarily indicative of future operating results or of future financial condition.

Issuers are not required to supply forward-looking information. This is distinguished from presently known data that will impact upon future operating results, such as known future increases in costs of labor or materials. This latter data may be required to be disclosed.

A. Plan of Operation.

1. Describe the issuer's plan of operation for the next twelve months. This description should include such matters as:

- i. a discussion of how long the issuer can satisfy its cash requirements and whether it will have to raise additional funds in the next twelve months;
- ii. a summary of any product research and development that the issuer will perform for the term of the plan;
- iii. any expected purchase or sale of plant and significant equipment; and
- iv. any expected significant changes in the number of employees.

A.

1. i. Beverage Creations has completed and paid for all of the Research & Development efforts to commercialize the bio2TONIC beverage product. All corporate expenditures for Beverage Creations have been funded by an infusion of funds from company founders, Robert Wieden and Patrick Dado. In this scenario, we believe Beverage Creations can operate on its sustained cash flow once introduced in the marketplace. So at this juncture, we do not envision the need to raise more funds in the next twelve months but this could change if market acceptance of the product accelerates past projections and the need to increase our market capacity exists.

The revenue model will be dependent on a product and International licensing revenue stream. Domestically, we envision that the bio2TONIC product will be solely controlled and distributed by Beverage Creations initially, with the distribution moving to a more traditional beverage distribution stream.

Beverage Creations is currently building six different molds, three for the custom aerosol can and three for the injection molded product components. Since the aerosol can is a custom configuration, it was necessary to build custom molds that would allow us to build a non-industry can on existing manufacturing equipment. The three molds will cost us a combined $20,000 and will allow us automated efficiencies through an in-line production process. The injection molds will be built to reflect our volume projections past our market inception so we have decided to amortize the initial combined costs of $74,000. This amortization is calculated on the production of 1 million units with our supplier.

The full expense burden for these tasks amounts to $138,000 - with the balance ($61,000) not due until March, 2008. On the marketing side, we are currently in the process of building distribution and marketing channels for the launch of the product.

1. ii. Beverage Creations has completed transitioning from prototype engineering designs to building the production molds for the components of our proprietary product. During this phase, we are currently planning and designing the production lines and filling lines for our impending launch.

R & D is complete. Remaining expenditures will be associated with beverage development, encompassing beverage formulation, flavorings and packaging design.

1. iii. Beverage Creations is currently in discussions regarding to form a joint-venture manufacturing arrangement to build our own manufacturing production lines. It is not known if these formative talks will lead to a contractual agreement.

1. iv. Company will hire an experienced Marketing Coordinator to work with and manage distributors and partner channels.

B. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations.

1. Full fiscal years. Discuss the issuer's financial condition, changes in financial condition and results of operations for each of the last two fiscal years. This discussion should address the past and future financial condition and results of operation of the issuer, with particular emphasis on the prospects for the future. The discussion should also address those key variable and other qualitative and quantitative factors that are necessary to an understanding and evaluation of the issuer. If material, the issuer should disclose the following:

- i. Any known trends, events or uncertainties that have or are reasonably likely to have a material impact on the issuer's short-term or long-term liquidity;
- ii. Internal and external sources of liquidity;

- iii. Any material commitments for capital expenditures and the expected sources of funds for such expenditures;
- iv. Any known trends, events or uncertainties that have had or that are reasonably expected to have a material impact on the net sales or revenues or income from continuing operations;
- v. Any significant elements of income or loss that do not arise from the issuer's continuing operations;
- vi. The causes for any material changes from period to period in one or more line items of the issuer's financial statements; and
- vii. Any seasonal aspects that had a material effect on the financial condition or results of operation.

N/A

2. Interim Periods. Provide a comparable discussion that will enable the reader to assess material changes in financial condition and results of operations since the end of the last fiscal year and for the comparable interim period in the preceding year.

C. Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements.

1. In a separately-captioned section, discuss the issuer's off-balance sheet arrangements that have or are reasonably likely to have a current or future effect on the issuer's financial condition, changes in financial condition, revenues or expenses, results of operations, liquidity, capital expenditures or capital resources that is material to investors. The disclosure shall include the items specified in paragraphs C(1)(i), (ii), (iii) and (iv) of this Item XVII to the extent necessary to an understanding of such arrangements and effect and shall also include such other information that the issuer believes is necessary for such an understanding.

- i. The nature and business purpose to the issuer of such off-balance sheet arrangements;
- ii. The importance to the issuer of such off-balance sheet arrangements in respect of its liquidity, capital resources, market risk support, credit risk support or other benefits;
- iii. The amounts of revenues, expenses and cash flows of the issuer arising from such arrangements; the nature and amounts of any interests retained, securities issued and other indebtedness incurred by the issuer in connection with such arrangements; and the nature and amounts of any other obligations or liabilities (including contingent obligations or liabilities) of the issuer arising from such arrangements that are or are reasonably likely to become material and the triggering events or circumstances that could cause them to arise; and

- iv. Any known event, demand, commitment, trend or uncertainty that will result in or is reasonably likely to result in the termination, or material reduction in availability to the issuer, of its off-balance sheet arrangements that provide material benefits to it, and the course of action that the issuer has taken or proposes to take in response to any such circumstances.

2. As used in paragraph C of this Item XVII, the term off-balance sheet arrangement means any transaction, agreement or other contractual arrangement to which an entity unconsolidated with the issuer is a party, under which the issuer has:

- i. Any obligation under a guarantee contract that has any of the characteristics identified in paragraph 3 of FASB Interpretation No. 45, Guarantor's Accounting and Disclosure Requirements for Guarantees, Including Indirect Guarantees of Indebtedness of Others (November 2002) ("FIN 45"), as may be modified or supplemented, and that is not excluded from the initial recognition and measurement provisions of FIN 45 pursuant to paragraphs 6 or 7 of that Interpretation;
- ii. A retained or contingent interest in assets transferred to an unconsolidated entity or similar arrangement that serves as credit, liquidity or market risk support to such entity for such assets;
- iii. Any obligation, including a contingent obligation, under a contract that would be accounted for as a derivative instrument, except that it is both indexed to the issuer's own stock and classified in stockholders' equity in the issuer's statement of financial position, and therefore excluded from the scope of FASB Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 133, Accounting for Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities (June 1998), pursuant to paragraph 11(a) of that Statement, as may be modified or supplemented; or

- iv. Any obligation, including a contingent obligation, arising out of a variable interest (as referenced in FASB Interpretation No. 46, Consolidation of Variable Interest Entities (January 2003), as may be modified or supplemented) in an unconsolidated entity that is held by, and material to, the issuer, where such entity provides financing, liquidity, market risk or credit risk support to, or engages in leasing, hedging or research and development services with, the issuer.

Instructions to paragraph C of Item XVII

- i. No obligation to make disclosure under paragraph C of this Item XVII shall arise in respect of an off-balance sheet arrangement until a definitive agreement that is unconditionally binding or subject only to customary closing conditions exists or, if there is no such agreement, when settlement of the transaction occurs.
- ii. Issuers should aggregate off-balance sheet arrangements in groups or categories that provide material information in an efficient and understandable manner and should avoid repetition and disclosure of immaterial information. Effects that are common or similar with respect to a number of off-balance sheet arrangements must be analyzed in the aggregate to the extent the aggregation increases understanding. Distinctions in arrangements and their effects must be discussed to the extent the information is material, but the discussion should avoid repetition and disclosure of immaterial information.
- iii. For purposes of paragraph C of this Item XVII only, contingent liabilities arising out of litigation, arbitration or regulatory actions are not considered to be off-balance sheet arrangements.

- iv. Generally, the disclosure required by paragraph C of this Item XVII shall cover the most recent fiscal year. However, the discussion should address changes from the previous year where such discussion is necessary to an understanding of the disclosure.

In satisfying the requirements of paragraph C of this Item XVII, the discussion of off-balance sheet arrangements need not repeat information provided in the footnotes to the financial statements, provided that such discussion clearly cross-references to specific information in the relevant footnotes and integrates the substance of the footnotes into such discussion in a manner designed to inform readers of the significance of the information that is not included within the body of such discussion.
